Quality Policy

Fosteel Srl has been operating for several years in the supply of flanges, fittings, pipes and other standard and special items to design for the Chemical, Energy, Water, Hydro-thermal, Naval, Petrochemical and Steel sectors, offering a high quality of the proposed products associated with an extreme flexibility of production characterized by a wide range of products and types of processing in relation to customer requests.

The context in which the company is located is characterized by competitors who operate with the search for increasingly competitive prices sometimes to the detriment of the quality of the product and the raw material used.

To overcome these potential risks related to the context in which it is located, Fosteel Srl has as its primary objective to be recognized as a supplier of good quality products, capable of satisfying even particular requests of customers in terms of flexibility and production of the same.

From this point of view, Fosteel Srl is constantly engaged in the search for technical solutions cutting-edge technological solutions that allow it to reach the desired production and quality levels.

The purpose of this quality policy to which the company is inspired is complete customer satisfaction, ensuring a continuous and extended commitment at all company levels to achieve constant improvement of its Management System adopted in reference to the requirements contained in the UNI EN ISO 9001 standard, appropriate to the economic and production reality in which it operates, to the changes to which this context is subjected and to the risks associated with it. Fosteel Srl constantly seeks full customer satisfaction by offering quality products compliant with the declared specifications and the reference technical regulations; the creation of customized solutions, correctness in commercial relations and delivery times adequate to what the customer requires.

To improve quality, Fosteel Srl is continuously engaged in specific and continuous checks on products, in the search for the causes of non-compliance and inefficiency in order to prevent them by minimizing the need for corrective actions, and in the development of continuous performance improvement activities.

This involves full involvement of all company personnel who must feel part of the results achieved through their contribution and grow with the company.

The Management of Fosteel Srl promotes the contribution of each individual member of the company to obtain the global quality of the products and shares and approves every effort aimed at improving quality.

This quality policy is pursued by identifying specific and coherent objectives periodically updated during the periodic reviews of the quality management system by the Management.
